Certain information and note disclosures normally included in the financial statements prepared in accordance with U.S. GAAP have been condensed or omitted pursuant to such rules and regulations. As such, the information included in this report should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements and accompanying notes included in the Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2025 (the "2025 Annual Report"). The December 31, 2025 condensed consolidated balance sheet data included in this report were derived from the audited financial statements in the 2025 Annual Report.

The accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements reflect all normal recurring adjustments that are necessary to present fairly the results for the interim periods presented. Interim results are not necessarily indicative of the results for the year ending December 31, 2026.

(b) Principles of Consolidation

The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Zai Lab Limited and its subsidiaries, which are wholly owned. All intercompany transactions and balances are eliminated upon consolidation.

The preparation of the unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP requires management to make estimates, judgments, and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the period. Areas where management uses subjective judgment include, but are not limited to, accrual of rebates, recognition of research and development expenses based on the Company's estimates of the actual services performed by CROs and CMOs, fair value of share-based compensation expenses, recoverability of deferred tax assets, and useful life of intangible assets for commercial products. These estimates, judgments, and assumptions can affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities as of the date of the financial statements as well as the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the periods presented. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

(d) Fair Value Measurements

Financial instruments of the Company primarily include cash and cash equivalents, current restricted cash, short-term investments, accounts receivable, notes receivable, prepayments and other current assets, non-current restricted cash, accounts payable, short-term debt, and other current liabilities. other current assets, accounts payable, short-term debt, and other current liabilities approximated their fair value due to the short-term maturity of these instruments, and the carrying value of notes receivable and non-current restricted cash approximated their fair value based on the assessment of the ability to recover these amounts.

In accordance with the Company Law of the People's Republic of China, each Chinese subsidiary of the Company is required to provide statutory reserves of at least 10% of its annual after-tax profit until such reserve has reached 50% of its respective registered capital based on the enterprise's Chinese statutory accounts. The reserves can only be used for specific purposes and are not distributable as cash dividends. Foreign exchange and other regulations in mainland China may further restrict the Company's Chinese subsidiaries from transferring out funds in the form of dividends, loans, and advances.

No appropriation to statutory reserves was made in the first quarter of 2026 and 2025 because the Chinese subsidiaries had substantial losses during such periods. The Company did not receive any distributions from its Chinese subsidiaries; such distributions were not permitted under Chinese laws and regulations due to the reserve requirements discussed above. As of both March 31, 2026 and December 31, 2025, amounts restricted included the paid-in capital of the Company's subsidiaries in mainland China and were $516.0 million.

The Company's Chief Operating Decision Maker (the "CODM") is the Chief Executive Officer, who assesses performance and allocates resources based on significant expenses and net income on a consolidated basis. The significant expenses that are regularly provided to the CODM include those amounts that are also reported on the consolidated statement of operations as well as below additional disaggregated measures. Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

You should read the following discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of operations together with our 2025 Annual Report and our unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements and the accompanying notes for the first quarter of 2026 included in Item 1. Financial Statements.

Overview

We are a patient-focused, innovative, commercial-stage, global biopharmaceutical company with a substantial presence in both Greater China and the United States. We are focused on discovering, developing, and commercializing products that address medical conditions with significant unmet needs in the areas of oncology, immunology, neuroscience, and infectious disease. We intend to leverage our competencies and resources to positively impact human health. We currently have seven commercial programs – ZEJULA, VYVGART / VYVGART Hytrulo, NUZYRA, OPTUNE, QINLOCK, XACDURO, and AUGTYRO – with products that have received marketing approval and that we have commercially launched in China. We also have multiple programs in late-stage product development and a number of ongoing pivotal trials across our portfolio.

Since our inception, we have incurred net losses and negative cash flows from our operations. Substantially all of our losses have resulted from funding our research and development programs and selling, general, and administrative costs associated with our operations. Developing high quality product candidates requires significant investment in our research and development activities over a prolonged period of time, and a core part of our strategy is to continue making sustained investments in this area. Our ability to generate profits and positive cash flow from operations depends upon our ability to successfully market our commercial products and to successfully expand the indications for these products and develop and commercialize our other product candidates. As discussed further below, we expect to continue to incur substantial costs related to our research and development and commercialization activities.

As we pursue our corporate strategic goals, we anticipate that our financial results will fluctuate from quarter to quarter and year to year depending in part on the balance between the success of our commercial products and the level of our research and development expenses. We cannot predict whether or when our product candidates will receive regulatory approval. Further, if we receive such regulatory approval, we cannot predict whether or when we may be able to successfully commercialize such products or whether or when such products may become profitable.

Recent Developments

Commercial Products

Net product revenue was $95.6 million for the first quarter of 2026, a decrease of 10% compared to the prior year period, primarily due to decreased sales for ZEJULA, due to a shift in hospital utilization patterns following volume-based procurement for generic olaparib, and VYVGART, primarily due to a pricing adjustment related to NRDL renewal. These decreases were partially offset by increased sales for XACDURO, driven by strong patient demand and expanding hospital adoption but partially constrained by supply limitations, and increased sales for NUZYRA, supported by increased market coverage and penetration.

Product Candidates

We continued to advance our product candidates through our research and development activities, including the following developments with respect to our clinical trials and regulatory approvals:

Oncology

- Zocilurtatug Pelitecan (Zoci, DLL3-Targeting ADC) (formerly ZL-1310): In April 2026, we presented compelling clinical data at the American Association for Cancer Research ("AACR") Annual Meeting 2026 demonstrating that zoci delivers rapid and robust intracranial responses in patients with previously treated ES-

SCLC and brain metastases as measured by blinded independent assessment using mRANO-BM criteria, as well as promising data in patients with extrapulmonary NECs.

- SCLC with Brain Metastases: Zoci showed a 53.7% confirmed intracranial objective response rate with 62.5% (10/16) at the 1.6 mg/kg dose, including complete responses. Notably, responses were observed in patients without prior brain radiotherapy (9/15, 60%), highlighting the net drug effect on the intracranial lesions. Zoci was well tolerated, with Grade ≥3 treatment-related adverse events ("TRAEs") in 19.9% (27/136) of the overall population and in 16.4% (9/55) of patients who received 1.6mg/kg.
- Extrapulmonary NECs: Encouraging activity was observed with a 38.2% confirmed objective response rate across extrapulmonary NECs of different primary origins. The safety profile in extrapulmonary NECs was consistent with that previously observed in SCLC with Grade ≥3 TRAEs in 15.2% of patients in Phase 1b.

In April 2026, we announced a global clinical trial collaboration with Amgen to evaluate zoci in combination with Amgen's IMDELLTRA® (tarlatamab-dlle), a DLL3/CD3 bispecific T-cell engager, for ES-SCLC and a clinical collaboration with Boehringer Ingelheim to evaluate zoci in combination with obrixtamig, a DLL3/CD3 bispecific T-cell engager, for SCLC and other NECs.

- Tumor Treating Fields (TTFields): We participated in the Greater China portion of the Phase 3 pivotal PANOVA-3 trial evaluating the efficacy of TTFields therapy administered concomitantly with gemcitabine and nab-paclitaxel as a 1L treatment for patients with unresectable, locally advanced pancreatic cancer. In February 2026, the FDA approved TTFields, under the brand name OPTUNE Pax, for this indication. In August 2025, the NMPA granted Innovative Medical Device Designation for TTFields therapy for patients with pancreatic cancer based on the positive results from the Phase 3 PANOVA-3 trial. This designation offers opportunities to expedite the regulatory review and approval process. The trial met its primary endpoint, demonstrating a statistically significant improvement in median overall survival for patients treated with TTFields. We filed for regulatory approval in mainland China in the fourth quarter of 2025 for this combination treatment in patients with unresectable, locally advanced pancreatic cancer.

Immunology, Neuroscience, and Infectious Disease

- Efgartigimod (FcRn): In August 2025, our partner argenx announced topline results from the pivotal ADAPT SERON study of VYVGART in patients with AChR-Ab sn-gMG. The study met its primary endpoint (p-value=0.0068), demonstrating that AChR-Ab sn-gMG patients treated with VYVGART achieved a statistically significant and clinically meaningful improvement in MG-ADL (Myasthenia Gravis Activities of Daily Living) total score compared to placebo. VYVGART was well tolerated and safe across AChR-Ab seronegative subtypes and consistent with the established safety profile in patients with AChR-Ab seropositive gMG and other indications. No new safety concerns were identified. We participated in the study in Greater China. In January 2026, the FDA accepted for priority review an sBLA submitted by argenx seeking expansion of the VYVGART label to include adult AChR-Ab sn-gMG patients with a PDUFA target action date of May 10, 2026.

  In February 2026, argenx announced topline results from the global registrational Phase 3 ADAPT-OCULUS study of efgartigimod for the treatment of ocular MG. The study met its primary endpoint (p-value=0.012), demonstrating that patients living with ocular MG and treated with VYVGART demonstrated statistically significant improvement from baseline in Myasthenia Impairment Index (MGII) Patient Reported Outcome (PRO) ocular scores at Week 4 compared to placebo. In the overall population, mean change from baseline in patients treated with VYVGART was a 4.04 point improvement in MGII PRO versus a mean change of 1.99 MGII PRO score in patients treated with placebo. VYVGART was well tolerated and had a favorable safety profile in patients with oMG, consistent with prior studies. We participated in the study in Greater China.

- ZL-1503 (IL-13/IL-31Rα): In April 2026, we announced new data from a preclinical study of ZL-1503, demonstrating that our internally developed IL-13/IL-31Rα bispecific antibody may lead to sustained suppression of intense pruritus (itch) and inflammation caused by atopic diseases. The findings reinforce the potential of ZL-1503 to be a first-in-class treatment option for moderate-to-severe atopic dermatitis and other IL-13 and IL-31-driven diseases. A global Phase 1/1b study is ongoing, and we expect to report the first-in-human data from the global Phase 1 portion in the second half of 2026.

- Povetacicept (Pove, Anti-APRIL/BAFF):

    - IgAN: In March 2026, our partner Vertex announced positive data from a pre-specified Week 36 interim analysis of the global Phase 3 RAINIER trial of pove in IgAN. The trial met its primary objective, with povetacicept-treated patients achieving a 52.0% reduction from baseline in 24-hour urine protein to creatinine ratio (UPCR), representing a statistically significant and clinically meaningful 49.8% UPCR reduction versus placebo ($p<0.0001$). Pove was generally safe and well tolerated. We participated in the global Phase 3 study in Greater China.

    - pMN: Our partner Vertex has completed enrollment in the Phase 2 portion of the global pivotal Phase 2/3 OLYMPUS study and has initiated the Phase 3 portion. We participated in the global study in Greater China.

- Elegrobart (Anti-IGF-1R, SC): Viridian Therapeutics announced positive topline data from REVEAL-1, elegrobart's pivotal Phase 3 clinical trial for active TED, and REVEAL-2, elegrobart's pivotal Phase 3 clinical trial for chronic TED, in March 2026 and May 2026, respectively. Elegrobart was generally well tolerated across both studies. We have an exclusive license from Zenas BioPharma to develop and commercialize elegrobart in Greater China and are currently conducting a Phase 3 bridging study in the region.

    - REVEAL-1 in Active TED: The trial met its primary endpoint with a highly statistically significant treatment effect. Both elegrobart Q4W and Q8W treatment arms showed rapid onset of treatment effect and achieved clinically meaningful 54% and 63% proptosis responder rates, respectively, versus 18% placebo at week 24. The Q4W treatment arm additionally provided meaningful diplopia benefit to patients with active TED.

    - REVEAL-2 in Chronic TED: The trial met its primary endpoint with a highly statistically significant treatment effect. Both elegrobart Q4W and Q8W treatment arms achieved statistically significant and clinically meaningful 50% and 54% proptosis responder rates, respectively, versus 15% placebo at week 24. The Q4W treatment arm additionally provided meaningful diplopia benefit to patients with chronic TED.

Organizational Update

During the first quarter, we continued to strengthen our business through key additions to our global leadership team. For example, in April 2026, we appointed Yizhe Wang, Ph.D., as Operating Partner, to strengthen our commercial capabilities and execution. Dr. Wang brings extensive experience in global oncology and immunology commercial operations, having led commercial teams across China, the U.S., and the U.K. at GSK and Eli Lilly.

Factors Affecting Our Results of Operations

Our Commercial Products

We generate product revenue through the sale of our commercial products in Greater China, net of any related sales returns and rebates to distributors. Our cost of product revenue mainly consists of the costs of manufacturing ZEJULA and NUZYRA; costs of purchasing VYVGART / VYVGART Hytrulo, OPTUNE, QINLOCK, XACDURO, and AUGTYRO from our collaboration partners; any royalty fees incurred as a result of sales of our commercial products under our license and collaboration agreements; and amortization of capitalized post-approval milestone fees incurred under our license and collaboration agreements. We expect our product revenue to increase in coming years as we continue to focus on increasing patient access to our existing commercial products, such as through NRDL listing or increased supplemental insurance coverage in the private-pay market, and as we launch additional commercial products, if and when we obtain required regulatory approvals. We expect our cost of product revenue to increase as the volume of products sold increases.

Research and Development Expenses

We believe our ability to successfully develop product candidates will be the primary factor affecting our long-term competitiveness, as well as our future growth and development. Developing high quality product candidates requires a significant investment of resources over a prolonged period of time. We are committed to advancing and expanding our pipeline of potential best-in-class and first-in-class products, such as through clinical and pre-clinical trials and business development activities. As a result, we expect to continue making significant investments in research and development, including internal discovery activities.

Elements of research and development expenditures primarily include:

- payroll and other related costs of personnel engaged in research and development activities;
- fees for exclusive development rights of products granted to the Company;
- costs related to pre-clinical testing of the Company's technologies and clinical trials, such as payments to CROs and CMOs, investigators, and clinical trial sites that conduct our clinical studies; and
- costs to produce the product candidates, including raw materials and supplies, product testing, depreciation, and facility-related expenses.

Selling, General, and Administrative Expenses

Our selling, general, and administrative expenses consist primarily of personnel compensation and related costs, including share-based compensation for commercial and administrative personnel. Other selling, general, and administrative expenses include product distribution and promotion costs, and professional service fees for legal, intellectual property, auditing, and tax services as well as other direct and allocated expenses for rent and maintenance of facilities, insurance, and other supplies used in selling, general, and administrative activities. We expect these costs to continue to be significant to support sales of our commercial products and preparation to launch and subsequent sales of additional product candidates if and when approved.

Our Ability to Commercialize Our Product Candidates

We have multiple product candidates in late-stage clinical development and various others in clinical and pre-clinical development in Greater China and globally. Our ability to generate revenue from our product candidates is dependent on our receipt of regulatory approvals for and successful commercialization of such product candidates, which may not occur. Certain of our product candidates may require additional pre-clinical and/or clinical development, regulatory approvals in multiple jurisdictions, manufacturing supply, and significant marketing efforts before we generate any revenue from product sales.

License and Collaboration Arrangements

Our results of operations have been, and will continue to be, affected by our license and collaboration agreements. In accordance with these agreements, we may be required to make upfront payments and milestone payments upon the achievement of certain development, regulatory, and sales-based milestones for the relevant products as well as certain royalties at tiered percentage rates based on annual net sales of the licensed products in the licensed territories. As of March 31, 2026, we may in the future be required to pay development and regulatory milestone payments of up to an additional aggregate amount of $207.0 million for our current clinical programs and $878.0 million for other programs. Such development and regulatory milestone payments are contingent on the progress of our product candidates prior to commercialization, and we see these payments as favorable because they indicate that product candidates are advancing. As of March 31, 2026, we also in the future may be required to pay sales-based milestone payments of up to an additional aggregate amount of $3,078.0 million as well as certain royalties at tiered percentage rates on annual net sales. Such sales-based milestone and royalty payments are contingent on the performance of our commercial products, and we see these payments as favorable because they signify that a product is achieving higher sales levels.

Total product revenue, net	95,556	105,650	(10,094)	(10)%

(i) Other includes product candidates sold in patient programs prior to commercialization.

Our product revenue is primarily derived from the sales of our commercial products in mainland China, net of sales returns and rebates to distributors with respect to the sales of these products.

Our net product revenue decreased by $10.1 million in the first quarter of 2026, primarily due to decreased sales for ZEJULA, due to a shift in hospital utilization patterns following volume-based procurement for generic olaparib, and VYVGART, primarily due to a pricing adjustment related to NRDL renewal. These decreases were partially offset by increased sales for XACDURO, driven by strong patient demand and expanding hospital adoption but partially constrained by supply limitations, and increased sales for NUZYRA, supported by increased market coverage and penetration.

Cost of Product Revenue

Cost of product revenue remained flat in the first quarter of 2026, primarily due to decreased sales and a shift in product mix.

Collaboration Revenue and Cost of Collaboration Revenue

In the first quarter of 2026, collaboration revenue increased by $3.2 million mainly related to a regional license and collaboration arrangement. Cost of collaboration revenue was insignificant in the first quarter of 2026 and 2025.

Research and Development Expenses

The following table presents the components of our research and development expenses ($ in thousands):

	Three Months Ended March 31,		Change
	2026	2025	$	%
Personnel compensation and related costs	18,470	24,079	(5,609)	(23)%
Licensing fees	22,000	19,997	2,003	10 %
CROs/CMOs/Investigators expenses	19,540	9,830	9,710	99 %
Other costs	5,581	6,823	(1,242)	(18)%
Total	65,591	60,729	4,862	8 %

Research and development expenses increased by $4.9 million in the first quarter of 2026, primarily due to:

- an increase of $8.5 million in CROs/CMOs/Investigators expenses and other costs related to ongoing clinical trials; and
- an increase of $2.0 million in licensing fees in connection with increased upfront and milestone fees for our license and collaboration agreements; partially offset by
- a decrease of $5.6 million in personnel compensation and related costs primarily driven by our resource prioritization and efficiency efforts.

The following table presents our research and development expenses by program ($ in thousands):

	Three Months Ended March 31,		Change
	2026	2025	$	%
Clinical programs	31,090	28,092	2,998	11 %
Pre-Clinical programs	11,716	3,314	8,402	254 %
Unallocated research and development expenses	22,785	29,323	(6,538)	(22)%
Total	65,591	60,729	4,862	8 %

Research and development expenses attributable to clinical programs increased by $3.0 million in the first quarter of 2026, primarily driven by an increase in trial costs based on the progress of our studies. Research and development expenses attributable to pre-clinical programs increased by $8.4 million, primarily driven by an increase in licensing fees for our license and collaboration agreements.

Although we manage our external research and development expenses by program, we do not allocate our internal research and development expenses by program because our employees and internal resources may be engaged in projects for multiple programs at any given time.

Selling, General, and Administrative Expenses

The following table presents our selling, general, and administrative expenses by category ($ in thousands):

	Three Months Ended March 31,		Change
	2026	2025	$	%
Personnel compensation and related costs	41,060	40,643	417	1 %
Other costs	24,010	22,779	1,231	5 %
Total	65,070	63,422	1,648	3 %

Selling, general, and administrative expenses increased by $1.6 million in the first quarter of 2026, primarily driven by higher general selling expenses.

Interest Income

Interest income decreased by $2.2 million in the first quarter of 2026, primarily due to decreased interest rates.

Interest Expense

Interest expense increased by $0.5 million in the first quarter of 2026, primarily due to higher levels of short-term debt.

Foreign Currency Gains

Foreign currency gains increased by $14.8 million in the first quarter of 2026, primarily due to appreciation of the RMB against the U.S. dollar.

Other Income (Expense), Net

Other income, net was $0.2 million in the first quarter of 2026, compared to other expense, net of $0.2 million in the first quarter of 2025, primarily due to a decrease in equity investment loss, partially offset by a decrease in other miscellaneous gain.

Income Tax Expense

Income tax expense was $1.4 million in the first quarter of 2026 attributable to current taxable income in certain Chinese entities. Income tax expense was nil in the first quarter of 2025 as the Company's subsidiaries were in cumulative loss positions.

Net Loss

Net loss was $51.0 million in the first quarter of 2026, or a loss per ordinary share attributable to stockholders of $0.05 (or loss per ADS of $0.46), compared to a net loss of $48.4 million in the first quarter of 2025, or a loss per ordinary share of $0.04 (or loss per ADS of $0.45).

Critical Accounting Policies and Significant Judgments and Estimates

We prepare our financial statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP, which requires management to make judgments, estimates, and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues, expenses, and related disclosures. Some of those judgments can be subjective and complex. Actual results could differ from our estimates.

Our most critical accounting policies and estimates, including those that require the most difficult, subjective, or complex judgments and are the most inherently uncertain, are described below.

Revenue Recognition

We sell our products to distributors (our customers), who ultimately sell the products to healthcare providers, primarily in mainland China. We recognize revenue when the performance obligations are satisfied upon the product's delivery to distributors.

We offer rebates to our distributors to compensate the distributors consistent with pharmaceutical industry practices. We are required to establish a provision for rebates in the same period the related product sales are recognized. The estimated amount of rebates, if any, is recorded as a reduction of revenue.

Significant judgments are required in making these estimates. In determining the appropriate accrual amount, we consider our contracted rates, sales volumes, levels of distributor inventories, and historical experiences and trends. If actual results vary from our estimates or our expectations change, we will adjust these estimates accordingly, which would affect net product revenue and earnings in the period such variances become expected or known.

Research and Development Expenses

We have a significant amount of research and development expenses, including with respect to pre-clinical and clinical trials for our product candidates. Such costs are expensed as incurred when they have no alternative future uses.

We contract with third parties to perform various pre-clinical and clinical trial activities on our behalf in the ongoing development of our product candidates. Expenses related to pre-clinical and clinical trial activities are accrued based on the Company's estimates of the actual services performed by the third parties, such as CROs and CMOs.

Significant judgments are required in estimating the actual services performed by the third parties for the respective period and the related expense accruals. In determining the appropriate accrual, we consider a variety of factors, including contractual requirements with respect to services to be provided, related rates, and our assessment of services performed during the period and progress with respect to any contractual milestones when we have not yet been invoiced or otherwise notified by third parties of actual costs. If the actual status and timing of services performed vary from our estimates, our reported expenses and earnings for the corresponding period may be affected.

Share-Based Compensation

We grant share-based awards, including share options and restricted shares, to eligible employees, non-employees, and directors. Such share-based awards are measured at grant date fair value.

Significant assumptions are required in determining the fair value of share options, which we estimate using the Black-Scholes option valuation model. These assumptions include: (i) the volatility of our ADS price, (ii) the periods of time over which grantees are expected to hold their options prior to exercise (expected term), (iii) the expected dividend yield on our ADSs, and (iv) risk-free interest rates. Since we do not have sufficient historical information to develop reasonable expectations about future exercise patterns and post-vesting employment termination behavior, the expected term is derived from the average midpoint between the weighted-average vesting and the contractual term, also known as the simplified method. The expected dividend yield is zero as we have never paid dividends and do not currently anticipate paying any in the foreseeable future, and risk-free interest rates are based on quoted U.S. Treasury rates for securities with maturities approximating the expected term. If actual results vary from our estimates or our expectations change, our reported expenses and earnings for the corresponding period may be affected.

Income Taxes

We recognize deferred tax assets and liabilities for temporary differences between the financial statement and income tax bases of assets and liabilities, which are measured using enacted tax rates and laws that will be in effect when the differences are expected to reverse. A valuation allowance is provided when it is more likely than not that some or all of a deferred tax asset will not be realized. Significant judgements are required when evaluating tax positions in accordance with ASC 740, Income Taxes.

We recognize in our financial statements the benefit of a tax position if the tax position is "more likely than not" to prevail based on the facts and technical merits of the position. Tax positions that meet the "more likely than not" recognition threshold are measured at the largest amount of tax benefit that has a greater than fifty percent likelihood of being realized upon settlement. We estimate our liability for unrecognized tax benefits which are periodically assessed and may be affected by changing interpretations of laws, rulings by tax authorities, changes and/or developments with respect to tax audits, and the expiration of the applicable statute of limitations. The ultimate outcome for a particular tax position may not be determined with certainty prior to the conclusion of a tax audit and, in some cases, appeal or litigation process.

We consider positive and negative evidence when determining whether some or all of our deferred tax assets will not be realized. This assessment considers various factors, including the nature, frequency, and severity of current and cumulative losses, forecasts of future profitability, the duration of statutory carry-forward periods, our historical results of operations, and our tax planning strategies. The ultimate realization of deferred tax assets is dependent upon the generation of future taxable income during the periods in which those temporary differences become deductible. Our estimates may be affected by changing interpretations of laws, rulings by tax authorities, changes and/or developments with respect to tax audits, and expiration of the statute of limitations. If actual benefits vary from our estimates or our expectations change, we will adjust the recognition and measurement estimates accordingly, which would affect reported expenses and earnings in the corresponding period.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

To date, we have financed our activities primarily through private placements and public offerings, including our September 2017 initial public offering and various follow-on offerings on Nasdaq and our September 2020 secondary listing and initial public offering on the Hong Kong Stock Exchange. We have raised approximately $164.6 million in private equity financing and approximately $2,677.8 million in net proceeds from public offerings after deducting underwriting commissions and the offering expenses payable by us. Our operations have consumed substantial amounts of cash since inception. The net cash used in our operating activities was $11.9 million and $61.7 million in the first quarter of 2026 and 2025, respectively. For information on our research and development activities and related expenditures, see the Research and Development Expenses, Selling, General, and Administrative Expenses, License and Collaboration Arrangements, and Results of Operations sections above. In addition, as of March 31, 2026, we had commitments of $1.4 million related to commercial manufacturing development activities and capital expenditures.

We have also identified opportunities to access capital through debt arrangements on favorable commercial terms. As of March 31, 2026, we had such debt arrangements with Chinese financial institutions that allow certain of our subsidiaries to borrow up to approximately $320.0 million (or RMB2,271.7 million) to support our working capital needs in mainland China. As of March 31, 2026, we had short-term debt outstanding of $213.8 million (or RMB1,479.5 million) pursuant to these debt arrangements. These debt arrangements provide us with additional capital capacity that will give us enhanced flexibility to execute our corporate strategic goals. For more information, see Note 10.

As of March 31, 2026, we had cash and cash equivalents, current restricted cash, and short-term investments of $761.3 million, which we expect will enable us to meet our cash requirements including the funding of operating expenses, capital expenditures, and debt obligations for at least the next 12 months.

Although we believe that we have sufficient capital to fund our operations for at least the next twelve months, we may, from time to time, utilize debt arrangements on favorable commercial terms or consider additional funding sources to bring to fruition our strategic objectives. There can be no assurances that such funding will be made available to us on acceptable terms or at all.

The following table presents information regarding our cash flows ($ in thousands):

	Three Months Ended March 31,		Change
	2026	2025	$
Net cash used in operating activities	(11,912)	(61,699)	49,787
Net cash (used in) provided by investing activities	(22,288)	326,133	(348,421)
Net cash provided by financing activities	5,573	43,141	(37,568)
Effect of foreign exchange rate changes on cash, cash equivalents and restricted cash	371	20	351
Net (decrease) increase in cash, cash equivalents and restricted cash	(28,256)	307,595	(335,851)

Net Cash Used in Operating Activities

Net cash used in operating activities decreased by $49.8 million in the first quarter of 2026, primarily due to an increase of $70.8 million in net changes in operating assets and liabilities, partially offset by a decrease of $18.4 million in other adjustments to reconcile net loss to net cash used in operating activities and an increase of $2.6 million in net loss.

Net Cash (Used in) Provided by Investing Activities

Net cash used in investing activities was $22.3 million in the first quarter of 2026, compared to net cash provided by investing activities of $326.1 million in the first quarter of 2025, primarily due to a decrease of $330.0 million in proceeds from the maturity of short-term investments and an increase of $18.8 million from acquisitions of intangible assets.

Net Cash Provided by Financing Activities

Net cash provided by financing activities decreased by $37.6 million in the first quarter of 2026, primarily due to an increase of $44.6 million in repayment of short-term bank borrowings, an increase of $2.3 million in employee taxes paid related to net share settlement of equity awards, and a decrease of $2.2 million in proceeds from exercises of stock options, partially offset by an increase of $10.6 million in short-term debt proceeds.

Recently Issued Accounting Standards

For more information regarding recently issued accounting standards, see Part II – Item 8. Financial Statements and Supplementary Data – Recent Accounting Pronouncements in our 2025 Annual Report. The Company has not adopted any new accounting standards in the first quarter of 2026.

Item 3. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk

We are exposed to market risk including foreign exchange risk, credit risk, and interest rate risk.

Foreign Exchange Risk

Renminbi, or RMB, is not a freely convertible currency. The State Administration of Foreign Exchange, under the authority of the People's Bank of China, controls the conversion of RMB into foreign currencies. The value of RMB is subject to changes in central government policies and to international economic and political developments affecting supply and demand in the China Foreign Exchange Trading System market. The cash and cash equivalents of the Company included aggregated amounts of $15.8 million and $25.4 million, which were denominated in RMB, representing 2% and 4% of the cash and cash equivalents as of March 31, 2026 and December 31, 2025, respectively.

While our financial statements are presented in U.S. dollars, our business mainly operates in mainland China with a significant portion of our transactions settled in RMB, and as such, we do not believe that we currently have significant direct foreign exchange risk and have not used derivative financial instruments to hedge our exposure to such risk. Although, in general, our exposure to foreign exchange risk should be limited, the value of your investment in our ADSs and ordinary shares will be affected by the exchange rate between the U.S. dollar and the RMB and between the HK dollar and the RMB, respectively, because the value of our business is effectively denominated in RMB, while ADSs and ordinary shares are traded in U.S. dollars and HK dollars, respectively.

The value of the RMB against the U.S. dollar and other currencies may fluctuate and is affected by, among other things, changes in Greater China's political and economic conditions. The conversion of RMB into foreign currencies, including U.S. dollars, has been based on rates set by the People's Bank of China.

The value of our ADSs and our ordinary shares will be affected by the foreign exchange rates between U.S. dollars, HK dollars, and the RMB. For example, to the extent that we need to convert U.S. dollars or HK dollars into RMB for our operations or if any of our arrangements with other parties are denominated in U.S. dollars or HK dollars and need to be converted into RMB, appreciation of the RMB against the U.S. dollar or the HK dollar would have an adverse effect on the RMB amount we receive from the conversion. Conversely, if we decide to convert RMB into U.S. dollars or HK dollars for the purpose of making payments for dividends on ordinary shares or ADSs or for other business purposes, appreciation of the U.S. dollar or the HK dollar against the RMB would have a negative effect on the conversion amounts available to us.

Since 1983, the Hong Kong Monetary Authority has pegged the HK dollar to the U.S. dollar at the rate of approximately HK$7.80 to US$1.00. However, there is no assurance that the HK dollar will continue to be pegged to the U.S. dollar or that the HK dollar conversion rate will remain at HK$7.80 to US$1.00. If the HK dollar conversion rate against the U.S. dollar changes and the value of the HK dollar depreciates against the U.S. dollar, our assets denominated in HK dollars will be adversely affected. Additionally, if the Hong Kong Monetary Authority were to repeg the HK dollar to, for example, the RMB rather than the U.S. dollar, or otherwise restrict the conversion of HK dollars into other currencies, then our assets denominated in HK dollars will be adversely affected.

Credit Risk

Financial instruments that are potentially subject to significant concentration of credit risk consist of cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash, short-term investments, accounts receivable, and notes receivable.

The carrying amounts of cash and cash equivalents and short-term investments represent the maximum amount of losses due to credit risk. As of March 31, 2026 and December 31, 2025, we had cash and cash equivalents of $651.3 million and $679.6 million, respectively, restricted cash of $101.1 million, and short-term investments of $10.0 million. As of March 31, 2026 and December 31, 2025, all of our cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash, and short-term investments were held by major financial institutions located in mainland China and international financial institutions outside of mainland China which we believe are of high credit quality and for which we monitor continued credit worthiness.

Accounts receivable are typically unsecured and are derived from product revenue. We manage credit risk related to our accounts receivable through ongoing monitoring of outstanding balances and limiting the amount of credit extended based upon payment history and credit worthiness. Historically, we have collected receivables from customers within the credit terms with no significant credit losses incurred. As of March 31, 2026, our largest customer accounted for approximately 25% of our total accounts receivable collectively.

Certain accounts receivable balances are settled in the form of notes receivable. As of March 31, 2026, such notes receivable included bank acceptance promissory notes that are non-interest bearing and due within six months. These notes receivable were used to collect the receivables based on an administrative convenience, given these notes are readily convertible to known amounts of cash. In accordance with the sales agreements, whether to use cash or bank acceptance promissory notes to settle the receivables is at our discretion, and this selection does not impact the agreed contractual purchase prices.

Interest Rate Risk

We are exposed to risks related to changes in interest rates on our cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash, and short-term investments. As of March 31, 2026 and December 31, 2025, we had cash and cash equivalents of $651.3 million and $679.6 million, respectively, restricted cash of $101.1 million, and short-term investments of $10.0 million. Our investment portfolio, which relates to cash equivalents and short-term investments, primarily consists of time deposits. The primary objectives of our investment activities are to preserve principal, provide liquidity, and maximize income without significantly increasing risk. Given the short-term nature of our deposits and investments, we believe that a sudden change in market interest rates would not be expected to have a material impact on our financial condition and/or results of operation. For example, a hypothetical 10% relative change in interest rates during any of the periods presented would not have a material impact on future interest income.

We are also exposed to risks related to changes in interest rates on our short-term debt, which is currently subject to a mix of fixed and floating interest rates. As of March 31, 2026 and December 31, 2025, we had short-term debt of $213.8 million and $204.5 million, respectively. A 100-basis point increase in interest rates would not materially increase our interest expense. Our interest rate exposure from short-term debt is also offset by our exposure in cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash, and short-term investments, as discussed above. For more information on our short-term debt, see Note 10.

Item 4. Controls and Procedures

Management's Evaluation of Our Disclosure Controls and Procedures

Our management, including our Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, performed an evaluation of the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Exchange Act Rule 13a-15(e)) as of the end of the period covered by this report. Our disclosure controls and procedures are designed to ensure that the information required to be disclosed in the reports that we file or furnish under the Exchange Act is recorded, processed, summarized, and reported within the time periods specified in the SEC's rules and forms and that such information is accumulated and communicated to our management, including our Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure. Any controls and procedures, no matter how well designed and operated, can provide only reasonable assurance of achieving the desired control objective. Based upon that evaluation, our management has concluded that, as of March 31, 2026, our disclosure controls and procedures were effective.

Changes in Internal Control over Financial Reporting
